Duties of Compliance Officer
1. Introduction

Condition 42 of the electricity distribution licences of Southern Electric Power Distribution plc (“SEPD”) and Scottish Hydro Electric Power Distribution plc (“SHEPD”) and Special Conditions 2B and 2I of the electricity transmission licence of Scottish Hydro Electric Transmission plc (“SHE Transmission”) require that distribution and transmission are managed in such a way that they do not restrict, prevent or distort competition elsewhere in the energy industry and the absolute confidentiality of related, commercially sensitive information is maintained. Other conditions of the licences prohibit cross subsidisation between separate businesses and discrimination between suppliers by the distribution business, in addition to a financial ring fence. SEPD, SHEPD and SHE Transmission collectively trade as Scottish and Southern Energy Power Distribution Limited “SSEPD”.

SSEPD have agreed with The Gas and Electricity Markets Authority (“the Authority”) and published their Statement of Compliance which sets out how SSEPD comply with the licence requirements specifically on the restriction on use of certain information and independence of the distribution and transmission businesses.

Condition 43 of SEPD’s and SHEPD’s licences and Transmission Special Licence Condition 2H require SSEPD to appoint a Compliance Officer to facilitate compliance with the licence restrictions on use of certain information and the independence of the distribution business within SSE plc.

Henderson Loggie, Chartered Accountants, is the Compliance Officer appointed by SSEPD. On behalf of Henderson Loggie, the Compliance Officer role is led by George Hay (partner) and Gavin Black (partner). The licences require we report annually to the Directors on our activities over the year to 31 March, and that the Licensee reports thereafter to the Authority on the Compliance Officer’s activities and other relevant issues.

The specific duties of the Compliance Officer are attached but principally we are responsible for supporting SSE in its compliance with the separation licence conditions. This includes providing advice to SSE on complying with the confidentiality and separation obligations placed on the distribution and transmission businesses, monitoring the effectiveness of the practices, procedures and systems adopted by SSE, investigating complaints and reporting annually to the Board. We are also required to liaise with the Authority on all of these matters as appropriate.
2. Overall approach

During our period of appointment as Compliance Officer, we have developed a Compliance Audit Programme ("CAP") which details the monitoring and testing we consider necessary to ensure systems, procedures and controls are dealing efficiently and effectively with separation as required by Conditions 42 & 43 (Distribution) and Special Licence Conditions 2B, 2H and 21 (Transmission) together with SSEPD's Statement of Compliance as agreed by the Authority.

Our main contacts throughout the year at SSE have been the SSEPD Board and senior managers including Colin Nicol, Bev Keogh, Steven Kennedy and Robert Hackland and Andrew Wright from Regulation. In particular this year we had regular update and review meetings with the Networks Compliance team led by Scott Johnston who also took on the appointment as Internal Business Separation Compliance Officer (BSCO) for the networks business. Networks Compliance is part of SSE’s Group Compliance, a Corporate function, which is independent of the Networks business. We again visited a selection of sites of the distribution and transmission businesses where we have undertaken interviews and reviews. During the year sites visited included Perth, Aberdeen, Glasgow and Dunblane some of which were carried out in tandem with Compliance Team reviews.

Wherever appropriate we have utilised SSE resource, including the Internal Audit and Regulation and Compliance teams, as part of our review, with our role in such circumstances being to review the work undertaken, the results and conclusions reached and any remedial action taken. During the course of this year the Networks Compliance team developed its activities which created an increased level of control within the business compared to prior years which has allowed a more detailed level of monitoring of processes and controls. For the first time this year the detailed “Compliance Review of SSEPD with Business Separation Obligations and effectiveness of current controls” was carried out by members of the Networks Compliance Team. Previously this review had been carried out by the Group Internal Audit Team. All other monitoring and review was undertaken directly by us including communication with operational and administration managers and staff to discuss issues arising from separation, focusing on areas such as staff induction, training, branding, physical separation and access, IT, data confidentiality and managerial separation.

Our approach focuses on the Statement of Compliance issued by SSEPD and the objectives set out in the relevant licence conditions. We visit a selection of SSEPD operational sites and look at the scope and results of the work undertaken by the Networks Compliance team. We also hold discussions with SSE Regulation department and review the Ofgem website to identify particular areas of risk or other areas we should specifically consider in the current year.

This year, we again considered the risks associated with the increased transmission activity, as well as new connections (in distribution and transmission), HR, physical access, cross subsidies, staff transfers and the interaction with Scotia Gas Networks plc. In addition the interaction with SSE’s generation business and ongoing development in Shetland was discussed with and considered with Management.

In addition we discussed the ongoing investigation into SSEPD’s Connections business in certain parts of England with Regulation and Management to determine whether there were any business separation issues arising but none were specifically identified to us.

We have not been required to meet with Ofgem this year and have not been contacted by them.

Our report is structured in line with SSEPD’s Statement of Compliance. It sets out the results of our review and our assessment of SSEPD’s compliance with the terms of that Statement and accordingly the relevant licence conditions.
3. Managerial and operational independence of SSEPD

We consider there are several distinct facets which are important in achieving managerial and operational separation as required by the licences and Ofgem. These include legal and physical separation, autonomous boards with autonomous decision making processes, appropriate contractual and service level agreements, data confidentiality and branding of the separated businesses.

The practical aspects such as the creation of separate legal entities, physical access restrictions and branding have been specifically verified. We also spoke with staff and managers across the business to confirm processes and procedures were being followed. Our work has again confirmed that the culture throughout the organisation relating to separation remains robust and has increased recently as a result of increased emphasis on all compliance issues throughout the Networks business and the group generally.

We monitor the effectiveness of strategic data confidentiality, autonomy of decision making of the distribution and transmission businesses and corporate governance issues. This involved reviewing relevant board minutes and considering the operation of the decision making process with directors and officers. The make up of the board of SSEPD and the regular board meetings help ensure appropriate governance is maintained and reinforce SSE’s recognition of separation. The board composition has been reviewed and strengthened over recent years with the appointment of senior distribution and regulation personnel to complement the SSE plc director and SSE Executive Committee members. The appointment of independent non executive directors in 2014 further strengthened corporate governance and control in this area.

In addition, the board’s terms of reference and the capital authorisation corporate policy are regularly reviewed to maintain the independence of SSEPD and reinforce the corporate governance procedures.

Whilst absolute separation would not be consistent with SSE’s shareholder and stewardship responsibilities, systems, procedures and structures have been implemented and continue to operate to ensure the key objectives of separation have been met. In particular, the group structure has allowed effective managerial and operational independence within the group’s strategic plan. Underpinning this is a philosophy whereby access to information and data is prevented where separation requires it and we consider its implementation has been robust and thorough. Where systems enhancement or development is undertaken, separation issues will be considered. Where staff may have access to certain ancillary information not necessary for the performance of their duties, the staff involved are not in a position to realistically use the information/knowledge to effect anti-competitive practices. Where confidential strategic information, which is recognised as a genuine risk to the planned benefits of separation, is involved, we found effective procedures and systems to be in place.

The ongoing training of staff on confidentiality and the seriousness with which SSE would regard any breaches continues to ensure the underlying philosophy and approach adopted by SSE in this area is maintained. A new e-learning package was introduced last year, completion of which is mandatory for all relevant personnel who have been specifically identified. There is work ongoing to ensure that all personnel who require to receive this training have received it together with any refresher training as required. SSE places particular emphasis on confidentiality clauses in staff appointment letters and regularly reinforces the importance of confidentiality and clearly sets out the disciplinary process which would follow any breach. There have been no disciplinary proceedings during the year under separation, confidentiality or competition conditions of employment.
Where staff transfers took place in the year, where it was necessary to consider any separation implications, processes were actioned to ensure that steps were taken to ensure that any risks were mitigated with individuals being briefed and signing specifically drafted documentation to confirm their awareness of their obligations under the licence. The procedures in place whereby any significant transfers would be discussed with us are still effective.

4. Common services

We have considered the service level agreements ("SLAs") in place and discussed their operation in practice with no issues being identified. There have been no external complaints in this regard.

In addition, the cross subsidy report and Regulatory accounts audited by KPMG LLP have not raised any material concerns from Ofgem.

This would imply the SLAs and operating structure are not anti competitive.

The position with regard to Scotia Gas Networks plc is discussed at section 10.

5. Customer system and confidential information

In each year of our appointment, we have given particular focus to the integrated Customer Services ("CS") system and the related staff induction and training programmes and concluded that SSEPD's approach was in line with their stated and accepted philosophy. We noted that during the year the Networks Business is progressing the development and implementation of new billing systems which will be independent from the rest of the SSE Group. Once fully implemented these will remove the business's reliance on the utilisation of the CS system. This year our audit work included:

- confirming systems, processes and procedures are still appropriate;
- reviewing the Networks Compliance team's internal audit work on the IT security profiles and access controls and resultant follow up action plans.

We confirmed the Networks Compliance function continues to allocate significant resource to this area, each year undertaking a specific review of business separation access controls and with a standing remit to consider separation issues as part of all internal audit assignments.

During the year the Networks Compliance team have followed up the previous year's report and quarterly meetings have been held with the Networks Compliance team to review progress against the previous year's Action Points. In addition the Networks Compliance team have carried out additional reviews with a view to reducing the risk of any issues arising in these areas.

The scope and level of the Networks Compliance team review was greater than previous Group Internal Audit Reviews. This year their work identified an incidence of various minor administrative issues relating to inappropriate access authority for staff. Whilst such minor issues increase the risk of non-compliance, we do not consider they gave rise to any actual problems and the points raised are being acted upon timeously.
Part of the reason the minor issues were identified was due to a more robust approach generally being taken to Business Separation as all SSE Enterprise activities were identified for complete separation during the year and inevitably there were some transitional issues arising. SSE Enterprise is one of four operational divisions of SSE Group. It is a multi-faceted business delivering energy and energy management, multi-utility networks, rail services, mechanical and electrical contracting, lighting solutions and telecoms across the UK and Ireland.

We plan to continue to meet quarterly with the Networks Compliance Team to ensure the improvements in monitoring controls that have applied this year are continued in 2016/17.

A programme of enhanced business separation training is continuing to be provided to all relevant SSEPD staff and in particular senior management, distribution and transmission personnel and facilities managers reinforcing the key separation messages and refreshing awareness of prescribed processes and procedures. New transmission personnel all receive appropriate business separation training on induction which is particularly important as many are joining from outwith the sector and have not previously worked in regulated businesses. The new e-learning package has been introduced and processes are being developed to ensure that all personnel who have been identified as requiring to be trained have actually completed the e-learning package.

SSEPD has procedures in place to ensure access to information specifically designated as confidential is restricted at all times. From our work we are satisfied that SSEPD continues to comply with its stated Business Separation policy and to implement and enforce rigorously procedures and controls commensurate with that policy.

An issues log is now maintained and we are satisfied that none of the issues identified has resulted in any actual specific business separation problems.

6. Branding

SSEPD’s stated policy is to maintain a separate identity from other parts of SSE plc. Branding continues to be effective and is reinforced in the market place through the correct branding of vehicles, sites, literature and adverts, and stationery.

We are satisfied that branding is in keeping with the group policy and consistent with the need to separately brand the power transmission and distribution businesses within the market place.

During the year to 31 March 2016 the branding of the Networks business has been reviewed and significant changes will be introduced during 2016/17. We were consulted at various times during the year about these changes and are comfortable that the proposed changes to branding are perfectly acceptable from a Business Separation perspective and will, in fact, strengthen the distinction between the Networks business and the rest of the SSE group.
7. Responsibility

Separate legal entities for the operating subsidiaries create an appropriate structure for separation to be effective. The formal procedure of regular SSEPD board meetings underpins this and we consider these to be fundamental to achieving effective separation. The composition of the board was previously strengthened to reflect in particular, the growth in transmission and comprises 5 executive directors together with two Group non executive directors (one of which is Chairman) recognising the importance of SSEPD board responsibilities, together with two independent directors following the introduction of this requirement in April 2014.

This board has clearly defined terms of reference and a remit which allows SSE group to continue to meet its corporate objectives whilst satisfying the Licence requirements. In addition, the corporate governance policy has been approved by the PLC board which recognises the role of the SSEPD board and empowers it with prime responsibility for protecting the independence and confidentiality of commercially sensitive information. In this regard, we note that the Capital Authorisation Corporate Policy continues to partially exempt SSEPD from the group’s capital expenditure approval procedure to ensure confidential information is not made available to inappropriate executives or staff.

As an independent, external compliance officer, our approach brings an objective review of the practices, procedures and systems in place or planned to help ensure the conditions of the licences and the Statement of Compliance are being achieved.

8. Complaints

We have established a procedure with SSE’s Regulation and Compliance Teams whereby any complaints received relating to separation will be immediately advised to us with a covering letter setting out the investigation work to be undertaken by SSE. We will review details of SSE’s response to the complainant and any remedial action taken or proposed and we will consider if we should undertake our own investigation. Whilst there can be no guarantee that every relevant complaint would be dealt with by the Regulation or Compliance teams, we are satisfied all those with substance would be notified to them.

We have received confirmation that there have not been any complaints of a Business Separation nature notified to the Regulation or Compliance teams this year.

9. Advisory role

Our remit as Compliance Officer includes providing input on separation issues to help ensure policies and procedures are consistent with the Statement of Compliance and meet the expectations of Ofgem where practicable.

Meetings with Regulation and Compliance staff and SSEPD directors allow relevant issues to be aired and addressed on a timely basis.
10. Scotia Gas Networks plc (“SGN”)

SSE has a joint venture agreement with two Canadian Pension Schemes to own and run two gas distribution networks previously owned by National Grid Transco plc. The joint venture company is Scotia Gas Networks plc and SSE owns 50%.

SGN use SSE managerial staff under a Managed Services Agreement which has been approved by Ofgem. SGN has its own finance systems and all SSE staff working for SGN have to use separate access authorities controlled by SGN. Internal audit have reviewed access of SSE staff to SGN systems and are satisfied appropriate controls exist.

We have also considered the strategic interaction and staff transfers/secondments under the MSA and are satisfied that no separation issues exist for SSE. We have reviewed the Managed Services Agreement and are satisfied it does not give rise to cross subsidies or distort competition.

SSE has a gas supply business and a gas connections business. We have considered the implications of owning 50% of SGN and the Managed Services Agreement in terms of operation and management but are satisfied that SSE’s procedures and controls are appropriate to guard against access to or use of confidential information and to prevent any anti-competitive practices.

11. The year ahead

The appropriate practices, procedures and systems in SSEPD’s Statement of Compliance have been fully implemented for many years. Accordingly, our ongoing role continues to be to monitor compliance, in association with the Internal Audit, Compliance and Regulation teams, with the relevant systems and procedures in light of the licence conditions, independently assess SSEPD’s compliance taking account of any developments in the group’s business and to advise on any relevant issues which arise.
